

English:

People in Germany react differently to the spreading of the corona virus (COVID-19) and the measures to contain the epidemic. Some people may suffer from rumination and feelings of loneliness due to isolation. The telephone consultation is supposed to offer a possibility of finding solutions and how to cope with this situation.

You can contact us via the following number. If we're not available please leave a message with your request: 069/798-25366